WITH ITS SIZE AND SCOPE, UCLA plays a pivotal role in the fortunes of the city it calls home, as well as the Golden State as a whole. In the latest in an ongoing series of analyses, the university commissioned one of California’s leading consultants, Beacon Economics, to assess UCLA’s economic, fiscal and social impact during the 2016–17 fiscal year.

“UCLA is a source of pride for Angelenos everywhere. The university’s impact can be felt all around us — in the workers it employs, the jobs it creates across our city and state, the startups it develops on campus, and the discoveries made in its labs and classrooms. Our economy and our communities benefit from UCLA’s presence and performance every day.”
— Eric Garcetti, Los Angeles Mayor “UCLA’s contributions to our state’s economic vitality are significant and widespread, from discovering life-changing technologies to employing tens of thousands of Californians.

Measuring this economic impact allows us to demonstrate how every dollar invested in UCLA pays substantial dividends back to people throughout our state.”
— Gene Block, UCLA Chancellor
